[REDACTED]

Am sending along the following papers relating to recent RSC activities:

1. Second Progress Report.
2. The so-called "model form" for the survey of research programs.
3. Final draft of the Survey on the Chinese Communist Economy.
4. A-2 request for material or suggestions for a study of Soviet recuperation from air attack.
5. Working papers for HIE-56.

Your impressions on any or all of these will be appreciated.

Bill is attempting to press forward with the survey of critical deficiencies in the hope that they will provide a guide for recharting ONE's course in the Fall. As a result of the China Survey, ONE is recommending to the IAC that the research effort on the Chinese economy be increased. [REDACTED] has proposed an external research program under his direction. [REDACTED] Would you consider extending your program to encompass research on the Chinese economy?

I understand that [REDACTED] has an interest in studies such as the recuperation project being undertaken by A-2, and that he may have specific suggestions concerning it.

The working papers for HIE-56 were forwarded to ONE and are adequate for their purposes. The problem now is to edit, and possibly revise, then for EIC publication. We want to put them out in as useful a form as possible. Do you have any recommendations along this line? I know that two of your principle objectives were to develop a research tradition in the intelligence community and to produce papers that will make research cumulative.

Sincerely yours,
